

Beyond Criminalization: Expanding the Anti-Trafficking Policy Tool Kit

Monday

June 27, 2022

5:00-8:00pm (IDT)

[3-6pm BST; 4-7pm SAST; 10am-1pm EDT]

1	05.00	12.00	13.00	14.00	1
2	06.00	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
3	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
4	06.30	12.30	13.30	14.30	1½
5	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.30	1½
6	06.00	12.00	13.00	14.00	3
7	06.00	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
8	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
9	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
10	06.30	12.30	13.30	14.30	2½
11	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
12	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.00	2
13	06.30	12.00	13.00	14.00	3

This event will Launch the Alternative Anti-Trafficking Action Plan: A Proposed Model Based on a Labor Approach to Trafficking. This extensive policy paper was written by a group of ten TraffLab researchers from different disciplines (law, sociology, anthropology and industrial relations), and edited by Hila Shamir and Maayan Niezna. It reflects the 'labor approach' to trafficking, and aims to offer an alternative vision of how to address human trafficking in Israel given the limitations of the dominant anti-trafficking approach (based mostly on criminal law enforcement and restrictions on migration, with some human rights protections and services to the few identified victims of trafficking) to address the structural causes of severe forms of labor exploitation. The Hebrew version was first published in December 2020.

The full report in English is available here.

The event will take place online (via zoom)
The event is free and open to the public.
Please register using this link.

5:00 Welcome and introduction of the Alternative Anti-Trafficking Action Plan
Hila Shamir, Tel Aviv University and PI TraffLab (ERC)

5:15 Labour rights, human rights and feminist lawyering: beyond the limits of criminal justice responses to human trafficking
Siobhán Mullally, Special Rapporteur on Trafficking, Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights

5:45 Discussion

6:00 Roundtable and Discussion
Chair: Hanny Ben Israel, Tel Aviv University and TraffLab
Policy reform and the politics of anti-trafficking: What will it take to thread the needle?
Joel Quirk, University of the Witwatersrand, South Africa

New global migration governance: challenges and opportunities for anti-trafficking efforts
Janie Chuang, American University Washington College of Law

Structures of exploitation and workers' rights
Virginia Mantouvalou, University College London (UCL)

Binding, debt, enforcement: The anti-trafficking policy triangle
Maayan Niezna, University of Oxford Faculty of Law and TraffLab Fellow